

Banking and Account Management

Detailed ER diagram / Chen-style notation / stored attributes and derived display values

(min, max) beside an entity counts how many instances of that relationship it can participate in.
N = many. Account source/target roles are optional individually; transaction kind determines which is required.

Money is integer pause. Timestamps are UTC. Balance updates and transaction history commit atomically.